Veterinary report
I42/23, Pitbull bitch, Chloe

Chloe was brought in for examination and found to be severely underweight and malnourished. She has a flea infestation, mange and skin infection.

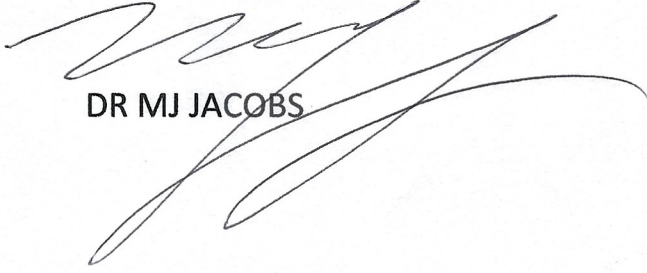

Due to her underweightness she is developing pressure sores on her hind legs and pelvis.

She is still fairly young.

A heart murmur was auscultated and should be rechecked when Chloe has recovered from her infection to check for resolution.

She was treated with anti-inflammatories, vitB complex injection and antibiotics dispensed.

Bravecto is advised for the mange and fleas.
