15. SECURITY INDUSTRY OFFENCES

(1) Ask the Dog Handler to show you his/her PSIRA card. If he/she cannot, this is an offence that can be reported to PSIRA.

(2) If he/she cannot present their PSIRA card to you, ask him/her for their PSIRA number. If he/she does not give this to you, it is an offence that can be reported to PSIRA.

(3) Along with asking the person for their PSIRA card/number, also ask to see other identification such as a Driver's License or an ID book and write down the Name/Surname and ID number.

Points (1), (2) and (3) can be used to cross-check his/her information on the PSIRA webpage and confirm whether the person is registered, is working for the specific company and has undertaken the required accredited Dog Handler level training courses.

The security dog must also have been trained in a Dog Handler level and have been issued with a Regulation 8 certificate that states the competency. If not, this is an offence that can be reported to PSIRA.

If you find a company operating without a PAPA license or any of the offences listed above, this needs to be reported to PSIRA in the form of a sworn affidavit for PSIRA to investigate in terms of their Code of Conduct Regulations, 2003.

If you open charges against a security company in terms of the APA, you need to also report it to PSIRA in the form of a CAS number, confirmation letter and a sworn affidavit with all relevant information to investigate in terms of the PSIRA Act as they may suspend/withdraw the company registration. The charges must be against the company name itself as well as the sole director.
