General Report Comments: I received a from the after hours that there's people selling chickens at the entrance of Hopland Langebaan. I arrived there and the guy named Osman was holding the chicken in a bad way head facing the ground and feet on his hands.
I asked him if he knows how to handle a chicken and he said he that's how they handle the chicken I gave him a lesson how to handle the chicken. I told him why is the no water and food he said his friend drove with the water and I told him to call his friend to come over.
They gave the chicken food and water and I left the notice to comply for for bad handling of chicken and there must be food and water always when they sell their chickens.
