CHECKLISTS

General Report Comments: Dear Roshin,

Thank you for your email regarding the incident at Ganzekraal.

We have also received the complaint and can confirm that Inspector October conducted an investigation in response last week already. Upon visiting Ganzekraal, it was determined that there are no security cameras on-site, and access is not typically gained through the gate. Instead, individuals are reportedly entering via an access road opposite the Cape Nature property, which leads to the beach without requiring access control.

The representative at Ganzekraal indicated that the animals in question—horses and donkeys—are located on the Cape Nature property opposite Ganzekraal. They also mentioned most vehicles are suspected to be from Mamre, though they could not provide confirmation.

Inspector October followed the access road to the beach, as directed by Ganzekraal's security, but the donkeys and horses were no longer present. He then proceeded to the Cape Nature property, where security granted him access; however, he could not locate the specific donkey shown in the video clip.

As you might be aware, the area is vast, with many horses and donkeys scattered throughout. Inspector October also drove through Mamre to search for the red vehicle in question but was unsuccessful.

We managed to trace the following details from the vehicle's registration number, which indicates that it is located in Hout Bay. While we are unsure if your team may want to investigate the property further, we want to emphasize that the complainant could not directly link this vehicle to the children seen abusing the donkey.

Inspector October has communicated this to Dominique Catto, explaining the challenges of addressing such incidents after the fact. He also advised that the best course of action is for the complainant to contact the SPCA immediately when such events are occurring, as this allows for more timely intervention.

Inspector October has relayed the same information to Andrea Britz, who initially submitted the video. Emma from Cogh replied to say that they will investigate the address in Houtbay.
