General Report Comments: The Jack Russell has suitable sleeping place, water and food provided during my inspection. The Labrador was chained during my inspection and did not have access to fresh clean drinking water. I was shown a room that has DB box electricity which according to Safin that is house where the dog sleep. The room is dirty and not suitable for keeping a dog since the electric wires can harm the dog. I told them to buy a kennel and separate the front yard from the back since their property is huge then keep the dog at the back section to avoid the dog running at the street. The dog was unchained during my inspection and water was provided.
