General Report Comments: At the property, no one was at the property. The dog could not be seen at first, but later sneaked out when I was still outside the property. I tried capture the dog and impounded him as a stray but the dog ran off and I lost him. I issued the owner with a written warning and while I was writing the warning, the dog owner's tenant arrived at the property and she said to me that the dog usually escapes between a gap open on the motor gate and the front yard wall. She signed and accepted the warning on behalf of the owner. To follow up next day
