General Report Comments: To date, the owner hasn't sent me any report from the vet. I arrived at the property for a follow up. I asked the owner to show me the dog leg. According to her, the dog was taken to a vet that she wasn't sure of the name in 'Bruma' so I contacted 3 of the closet vets, none of whom were able to confirm the owner's details. She claimed that they took the dog to some medical place but wasn't sure of the name. I issued her with another written warning as the "Chicco", the Pitbull appeared to still be limping but the swelling had gone down. It became apparent to me that the dog was not taken to a qualified vet. I still offered to take the dog to the Sandton SPCA Clinic but they did not trust my judgment. I therefore, still gave them a benefit of a doubt to take get help for the dog by having them signing the Warning. To follow up soon
