General Report Comments: The owner invited me inside her unit to check the dog's housing condition. She owns a 2-year-old, black and tan, neutered male, cross German Shepherd named "Tokyo". She said the dog was adopted from Woodrock Animal Rescue and she previously had an issue with a neighbour who tried hitting the dog that's why she recently moved from her old house. She said she owns a soccer club and would go on soccer matches on weekends but she spends most of her time working from home. She said she was given and pet approval by the Body Corporate. The dog would always have some company most of time except when she out for those shorter hours. "Tokyo" appeared to be in a fairly acceptable physical condition. His water(potable) was provided both indoors and out in the covered veranda. He had the ground floor garden unit walled and secured with toys to play with. The said the dog sleep indoors either on the couch or in bed with them. No violation of the Animals Protection Act found during my inspection.
