Comments: The dogs have adequate shelter and it's not a tiny box that only fit 1 dog. I did not see any box that is exposed to a drain during my inspection that is feeding in the dogs direction. I've been told by the owner the dogs are use sleeping outside and they never had any issues for years. I was informed they enjoy being together and since they had the Pekingese since the were young had never had any problem with their living condition. They have to section of the property which they divided and I was informed the two dogs are allowed to the other section should the storm drain next to their entrance gate over flow. And the dogs kennel is on top of the bricks in case of any weather elements the water will flow below.
