General Report Comments: Upon arrival at the house, I found a teenage girl named Jessica who said she had to come home early due to being ill at school. She also mentioned that she'd just been with another SPCA person to fetch a stray dog after there was a complaint about a dog being tied up in the yard. She owns a 3-month-old, tan, Africanis named "Coco" that was free roaming in the property. There was water provided for the dog. Jessica said the dog sleeps inside the house but her mother had to leave the house and left and tie up the dog to a water pipe along the wall with shelter provided. I saw evidence of a leash still left when I thoroughly checked the yard. I issued a written warning to her to inform her parents never to tie up and also provide the dog with suitable adequate shelter.
