General Report Comments:

An inspection was conducted and two male Labrador dogs were observed . The dogs were identified as Spander and Spider. Both dogs appeared to be in good physical condition. Adequate food, water, and shelter were observed to be provided. No veterinary emergency was identified at the time of the inspection. It is noted that animal-bite investigations fall outside the SPCA's mandate. As a result, the owner is required to report to SAPS Based on the inspection conducted and in the absence of a veterinary emergency or other welfare concerns requiring SPCA intervention , no further action is required on my side at this stage. I was informed the dogs accidentally went outside when one of the occupant open the gate and it was not intentional.
