General Report Comments: The property is secured with precast walls and a steel gate reinforced with metal fencing. There is no way the dog can escape the yard unless the gate is accidentally left open. Mr Lubbe informed me that in December there was an incident where the children left the gate slightly open and the Pitbull got out and fence fought with the neighbours opposite's Pitbulls. It was a once off occurrence and has never in 7 years happened before. Additionally, the Pitbull was friendly in demeanor and getting on well with the Chihuahua it grew up with. The front and back yards are not separated. There are wooden kennels in the back yard as well as blankets on the front patio. There was no excess dog faeces throughout the yard. In the back yard there were piles of garden and building rubble, but I was informed they are still trying to clear it all up. The water bucket was in the back yard with fresh water. Both dogs were in satisfactory body condition.
