General Report Comments: We arrived at the property and Mrs Smit opened up for us. We introduced ourselves and saw a older Jack Russel with Mrs Smit.

The property is quite large. There was a pool on our right hand side but it had a proper pool cover. They are also located next to a field and vlise to the main road in Paarl.

We walked through the large house. Mrs Smit showed us th dog food, dog beds and water bowls inside the house. Both owners work from home. Marmite was lying in her husbands office and is quite old. They use Die Ark and Boulevard Veterinarian for their animals and are aware that Marmite is on his way out.

The backyard is seperated from the front with gates and can be used for Whiskey in the beginnings ng. I did notice a rubbish spot against the wall of their neighbours with a tree and mentioned that they must keep an eye on Whiskey to not climb the tree and jump over the wall as the neighbours have Staffies.

She made a mental note and said Whiskey will mostly be inside the house anyways.

The husband joined us and they were concerned about whiskey digging himself out of the yard. I told them that they should exercise him regularly and buy toys and monitor him.

I also pointed out that the front gate is quite high from the ground and the pallisades are quite wide for Whiskey to escape through to the main road. They said they will make a plan.

I advised that they mostly keeo him in the backyard and monitor him until they can get everything foxed. I gave ideas as to what mesh to use and what to move away from the walls.

Luckily they know the breed and were willing to monitor him in the beginning.

Homecheck passed.
