General Report Comments: Hugh and I Elani arrived at the dog enclosure kept at Boland Bins. They placed the enclosure on a lifted pallet and placed conveyer belt on it to make the floor solid. There was no dog kept there during the day. They have complied with everything here.

We then went to the main site at the back of Boland Bins and met with Louis .

We did a walk through all the kennels. The enclosures are now larger and most has two kennels each of which one kennel is covered and waterproofed. They also have much less dogs. We saw a new overweight Rottweiler and checked its teeth which was fine. We checked the sizes of the enclosures, waterproof kennels, metal bowls, the exercise runs, partitionings, and whether the grass was cut. Minor issues were found which I addressed with Louis immediately. He said he is going to order F10 cleaning products from Groenkloof Vet. He mentioned he is trying to work with the Fruit Packers to get him sealed containers for food. They fixed all the metal bowls as I did not observe any with sharp edges. There were only a few enclosures with kennels that did not have waterproof roofs yet, which he said he will fix. None of the enclosures had partitionings to prevent fencefighting. I suggested the same boards as we use at the SPCA. They have enough kennels now to keep one open inbetween the dogs if they fight. They are still planning to get solid roofing for the kennels but have shadecloth as extra shade for now as roofs and wind breakers. They cut the grass.

The exercise runs did not have shelter and water and hazardous materials inside. One had an enclosure and kennel inside. There were no dogs inside the runs when we were there and I pointed everything out to Louis and he said he will place water buckets, kennels and get someone to clean everything over the weekend.

We noticed one Rottweiler that had crusty yellow eyes which may be Canine Distemper . I educated him about this. They have an isolation side so if they suspect a sick dog, we suggested that they move away from the healthy dogs. We then advised him to come to us immediately for a test as he wanted to leave it until Monday.

We returned to the office. 10 minutes later, Louis arrived with the dog. We tested it and it showed negative. He paid R150 for this test. He did show me the eyedrops he will use to clean the dogs eyes.

To recheck roofs and trailers on 11 October 2024.

Dogs and All has complied with everything on my warnings thus far .
