General Report Comments: I, Elani arrived at the property and Rentia was home. I asked her what happened.

We went inside and she told me that one of her neighbours took her dog Rambo out of her property (which is enclosed) at 2am in the morning. They fought with the dog and the next morning when she woke up, she found her dog with a massive bite wound on his face. She had her suspicions on who did it but nobody confessed and she didnt see the matter take place.

She took her dog to WAHG and got him on antibiotics etc. she is paying the money off and hoping she can find the person responsible to pay.

Upon ny visit I could see Rambo is timid but his wound is healing very well.

I then educated her about what type of evidence we need in order to prosecute for dog fighting. I went into great detail about this. I gave her our information pamphlet and recommended that she gets Rambo sterilized as they might have stolen him to breed with him.

She agreed and said she will save up for this.

No concrete evidence of the perpetrator was found and the dog involved was treated by a veterinarian, therefore the case can be closed.
