Comments:	Message received from complainant: Hi there I just saw your post on Facebook. I am in Stellenbosch. I drive to Wellington past your entrance, at times. And keep on wanting to pop in. What I would like to say is that coffee shop, with fresh bread on the Fourway, robot, on the corner of road that takes you to West Coast and R44. They have pens there where animals can be fed. You buy the corn inside. Last time I was there, the goose pond was covered in algae, not sure how they swim. Looks like that place for the person kept there, need to be cleaned and up graded And I heard from one of the clients there, that the chickens that roam there by the cars, like to sit under the cars, for shelter. One time someone got into their car and drove right over the lot that were under the car They are cute, they also waited under my car, another bunch of duff chickens, and I very slowly turned on car and drove off. Plus the coffee shop is very expensive. So doesn't attract too much clients. I think it is pure animal cruelty. My name is Jennifer Visser from Stellenbosch. Please keep me Anonymous. Thank you. Hi good day thank you for your complaint,can I ask when was the last time you been there?We have been there a few times for inspection but will surely pop by again At the end of December Okay will log as a cruelty complaint Thank you I don't think they care for the animals, just use them to attract clients And if that place could be sold oneday, there is so much potential there, if you look at all the deserted kraals at the back And the Bakery is half full with Verry expensive items, even the sweets. It is totally rundown. Not sure about the clean drinking water for the goats, geese, cheken Controller Controller 2026-01-26 08:28
