TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

I was contacted by Johnathan Curtis to visit Melkbossie F.A.S and conduct an inspection of the pig named "Franklin".

The pig was found be in poor body condition and likely suffering a mange infestation. To that end a discussion was had regarding the feeding regimen of the pig. The owners of the animal in question have made it clear that the had left clear instruction regarding the feeding of the pig, which was not being controlled to their satisfaction and that is believed to be a possible cause of the pig's current condition. They have been advised a suitable feed should be procured for the animal and they have indicated that they will insure that it is fed to him and will be visiting the pig weekly to insure his improvement.

They will also deworm the pig and apply anti-parasitics in order to combat any internal/external parasites which may be contributing to his condition. They have also agreed to consult with me telephonically and provide me with regular updates so that I can monitor his progress and intervene if I feel it is necessary. To this end it is my opinion that the animal is receiving the necessary attention and care in order to improve.

I will provide a follow up report in one month's time to show progress has been made.

Feel free to contact me directly if you have any further queries.
