Comments: Yesterday I went to Bluedowns court and met with the IO Huluhulu of the case at roughly 13:40, he advised me that he'll be going to the house to process the owner today.

He called me back at 17:39 telling me he met with the wife but knows this property as he arrested the husband previously for "domestic violence ". He didn't get the husband at home as they don't live together. He told me that he will call the husband and let me know what's the plan of action further.

I recieved another call at 19:39 he informed me he got hold of the husband and his in Northern Cape currently, he will be back in cape Town over the weekend and will come to the police station so that he can process him.

He further informed me that he will then drop the docket with the court to decided the process further and get back to me in due process.
