Comments: On arrival, I met with the electrical guys by the gate, they told me that they were installing solar pannels on the property. Another man went to call the caretaker of the house. An adult African lady came out of the house and came to me by the gate. I asked to speak to the owner of the house and she told me that the owner is not at home and she cannot give me her contact number as well.

I then told her it's ok I di have her contact number I will phone her. I went into the car and tried to call but the number was engaged. The caretaker came out again and gave me a piece of paper with the contact number of the owner. I told hwr that I tried this number and is engaged. I tried to call again and then the call went through.

She answered the phone and I introduced myself and she asked me what am I doing on her property. I explained to her that I am here to do a follow up inspection and that is when she lost it. She was saying how dare I come to her property without making an appointment, how dare I come and harass her 14years old daughter, how dare I come to her property to harass her staff, did I do the inspection at the place where they cut her rabbits? She then told me that she was calling SAPS for me for harassing her.

I heard that there are new animals on the property, as I could hear lambs. Maybe she feels threatened that we are there for them. She was more defensive that feeling harassed.

I am not sure if we should apply for a court order.
