Comments and action taken by Inspector:

At first I thought the crate was too small but then I saw that the Cockatoo was able to comfortably move around without his tail and wings being obstructed. There was also a perch provided accordingly. I tried to take clear photographs but the Cockatoo was stressed and trying to get out the crate - not excessively but usual behaviour for parrots being shipped - so I told the staff member to carry on. In my rush, I forgot to photograph the shipper's details. Inspection concluded at 11:06.
