Please describe the concern you have
There's this cat, I'm not sure if his people locks him out of the house the entire (assuming they do) because he roams the streets day and night, crying. He's been coming into our home, crying. I tried feeding him, he refused to eat. He goes everywhere apart from home because everything is always locked up. Neighbours tried reaching out to his owners but they're not responding. He's still a baby. Please help. I would love to keep him but don't have the facilities. I would often let him roam in my room but he'll cry to go back out. When he arrived he wore a red Roggz collar but now nothing. If they don't want the cat, can they just say because they're putting this cat through hell. Every night this cat is having to fight the cats on the street. He's full of scratch marks and so dirty. So many neighbours can vouch for this poor baby.
