General Report Comments: Upon arrival, the owners cousin was home. She immediately called the owner. I explained to her that the German shepherd has a bad skin condition and will require veterinary attention.

The jack Russell appears to be in good condition.

There is adequate space for them in the front yard and there was water available. I told the owner that if they don't have kennels then they will have to get them or buy as they need shelter. She asked if it's fine if they sleep inside the house at night and I told her that is acceptable.

When I arrived the dogs were not barking.

I issued a notice to:

1. Take the GSD dog to a veterinary clinic within 48 hours and provide a veterinary report as the dog has a skin condition.
2. Contact spca on 0217004158/9 or 0833261604 for any queries.
3. The option to surrender is available.
