Please describe the concern you have

Herewith lodging concern for Roxy, lives as above stated address. From what I have heard the spca have been out there before, the situation always reverts back to what it is now. Roxy is outside all day and night, it will be raining and she's laying there staring into the home. The whole yard is once again full of dog feces. She basically stays in the section there isn't any. I know you probably can't do anything about her not getting attention or any love but she's really not being taken care of at all. I would really love if you could take a look asap so you can catch the conditions before someone complains and it's cleaned up again before spca arrives. Once you guys get there they always have a story. I am honestly just very sorry for this dog and it's conditions, I visit my sister numerous times a week and I have a rough time driving past that house and seeing her always in the same spot, watching the house and in horrible conditions.
