Please describe the concern you have

This is my second time reporting this. After checking on the sun conure myself multiple times in hopes of seeing a change, there was little difference. This conure lives in a cage that is usually kept open with no supervision, allowing children and adults to poke and prod at it. The bird's water bowl has mold growing in it, and the cage's ceiling has toys with packaging still on.

There is also a pineapple conure in their guinea pig pen next to the restaurant on the right. The bird is all alone, with no enrichment, no visible food, and, ironically, a breeding box on a shelf. It is disheartening to report and see nothing being done about it. I implore you to ensure the well-being of these birds. I am willing to help out in any way I can if the birds are to be rescued, which I sincerely hope they will be. As a conure owner myself, it is sickening to see the treatment of these birds and how fearful and neglected they are.
