A German Sheppard limping and from the fact that its tail wasn't moving(I think its broken because it seems to just be dangling) and how the hindlegs were struggling to move, it looks like he was either driven over and neglected or that someone maybe brutality beat the poor thing. I was able to get a video of the dog struggling to walk, I don't know the owners very well, all I know is they aren't very good people so I'm very concerned for this poor dog.
