Comments: eport on Interaction with Respondent – Use of Shock Collar

I contacted the respondent telephonically regarding the use of a shock collar, and I informed him that the use of such devices is not permitted. I also explained the relevant legislation applicable to this matter.

During the conversation, the respondent stated that he is a firearms and knife collector, and firmly expressed that we cannot confiscate any of his property. He made it clear that he will not allow any removal of his possessions.

He then questioned my qualifications, to which I responded accordingly.

When I offered to send him proof of the applicable legislation, he attempted to provide his email address, but spoke too quickly for me to record it accurately. I asked if he uses WhatsApp, to which he replied no, stating that he only uses Telegram.

Following this, I sent an email to the Chief, reporting the matter and requesting that it be escalated to the NSPCA, as the respondent claimed to have purchased the shock collar from a company named Garmin.
