Subject: Re: CoGH SPCA: INSP215473 Emaciated brown dog

Evening,

Just an update on this one.

See attached video when I got home today. Video isn't showing the skinny-ness so well but he is thin.

Owners not home last night, or today.

Where the dog is lying in the beginning of the video, his only "shelter" by the main door... the floor is completely wet so this dog is shivering cold and wet and lying in water.

He is Still visibly petrified of people (was very aggressive 2 months ago when spca first went out) hence why I assume he his owners are possibly physically hitting him but he came up to me today (I think it's because he knows my voice after feeding him last night and this morning) - as hard as it is, won't feed the dog anymore after I had a lovely conversation with one of your employees today explaining how everything works and and will allow spca to continue their work without me getting involved and affecting your investigation.

Kind regards
Ashleigh Thiele
