Comments:	The owner, Lucresha Adams (ID: 7506200305083, Cell no: 0687669131), came in to the SPCA this morning to lay claim to her bird. She completed the necessary paperwork and stated that she has the bird for about 8 years now, the bird was in a cage with another parrot but they started fighting. She then moved the bird to a different cage but noticed that it started plucking its feathers . The owner then asked her male friend to take the bird for veterinary treatment but he took it to a petshop in Strandfontein instead where it received some sort of spray that didn't work. I explained to the owner that she had to take the bird to a qualified veterinarian and she apologised for that. I need to discuss this case with the Chief and with Jeff to see what will happen with the bird because it went for veterinary care after we treated it. Previous follow-up: 25 July 2025.
