CASE DISCUSSION NOTE

Note to inspector

On 13 August 2025, a complaint was received that a dog had been struck with a stone two weeks earlier, had a swollen face, and had not been taken to a veterinarian. Inspectors confirmed the injury and removed the dog for assessment, but despite a veterinarian’s note that it should not be discharged , the dog was released back to the owners a warrant was required before seizure, and this was only handed to the inspector on 22 August 2025. On that date, inspectors, accompanied by law enforcement, executed the warrant, confiscated the dog, and transferred it for veterinary evaluation. The dog was found to be in severe condition.

but the dog remained in suffering from 13–22 August due to the veterinary discharge error
