Subject: Re: Chained Puppy

Good Day

I would just like to report a puppy that is on a chain day and night, they barely loose the pup to run around to get some attention and exercise, the pup was a few months old living jn the owners garage and now his on a chain for Day and night on end. He plays with a stainless steel bowl that also causes disturbance for a as neighbors, the pup also barks excessively early morning and late nights disturbing our rest. I've spoke to the neighbors but the owner is arrogant and ignores complaints of the barking.

The address is number 27 Palmida Street, Sarepta, Kuilsriver.

I'm not a animal hater I work at Pets4life in Brackenfell were dogs are trained and how they should be handled and treated.

Im concerned about the dogs mental state for its only a pup and they should be free to run around and played with, not chained to a chain, in the back of a yard... because I have learned at work that keeping a pup tied for 1 hour max causes discomfort and distress... how must this dog feel?

They can't speak, they bark to be heard.

Sincerely
Deonice Davids
