General Report Comments: I explained that I would compile my inspection report and that, should any concerns be identified, these would be communicated to her via email by the facility's inspector.
I recommend that this matter be referred to the relevant inspector for follow-up with CapeNature to establish whether the facility is legally permitted to keep the stingray and to verify whether any permits or authorisations are required.
A follow-up inspection is required the following week to confirm whether the specialised sand has been delivered.
All other animals at the facility were inspected. The pet shop had the following animals available for sale: parrots, budgerigars, quails, crocodiles, ring-necked parakeets, rabbits, hamsters, and a variety of fish.
The completed pet shop inspection checklist is attached.
